

New Zealand Insulators

New Zealand owned and operated with a proud history spanning more than 99 years of service to and involvement with the New Zealand electrical industry.

We operate our business and manufacturing divisions from our significant (68,900 square metres) site in Temuka, South Canterbury and also a modern distribution centre in Kumeu (25km north-west of Auckland's CBD).

Based on our reputation and the understated quality and durability of the NZI products we continue to manufacture a suite of HV, MV & LV electrical insulators and products. We'd like to emphasise, that New Zealand Insulators is a local manufacturer and all insulators branded "NZI" are made in Temuka South Canterbury – not imported – but actually made here, in the South Island of New Zealand.

Every NZI Insulator is manufactured using about 60% recycled materials and is tested either electrically or mechanically before leaving our factory. At the end of its 50+ years service life it can be fully recycled in our factory to again create another high quality, fully compliant, sustainable new porcelain insulator.

We also own and operate our own opencast quarry (in Kakahu, South Canterbury) so have no reliance on international suppliers for insulator materials. This means we're flexible enough to make specialised products in short-run quantities and supply the New Zealand and international markets who continue to trust NZI product made in Temuka South Canterbury, New Zealand.

New Zealand Insulators, proudly made in Temuka, South Canterbury, New Zealand.
